

Thant Says Violence Stems from Psychological Climate Created by War

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP) — Violence in the United States and elsewhere stems from the psychological climate created by the Vietnam war, U.N. Secretary-General U Thant contended here Monday night.

He also declared that if this trend is not reversed "the future for international peace and security itself is indeed a very dark one."

His speech was prepared for delivery at the University of Alberta.

The secretary-general spoke out against the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, the "savage conduct of the war" and the concept that the conflict in Vietnam is a holy war against communism.

He urged continuation of the Paris talks no matter how protracted they are and said the best settlement would be neutralization of the entire area of the former French Indochina, including North and South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

"It would be a source of stability in the area," he said, "if the neutrality of the region could be guaranteed by all the big powers."

The Burmese diplomat reiterated his appeal for an unconditional halt in the bombing of North Vietnam, expressing the belief that continuation of the bombing has only hardened the determination of North Vietnam to prosecute the war.

"I also regard such bombing as of questionable morality and doubtful legality," he asserted.

He dealt at length with the Vietnam conflict and with its possible consequences.

"It seems to me," he said, "that the real issue of the Vietnam war has gradually become, not so much the political rightness or wrongness of one side or the other, as the savage conduct of the war itself."

"I find it difficult to express adequately the strong sense of repugnance to all established standards and norms of civilized society that the continuance of this savage war evokes. I do not see how one can build a democratic government or a stable society over huge graveyards and with the participation of enormous refugee camps."

"I know that advocates of escalation prescribe more drastic and large-scale destruction, but such senseless escalation would only produce a cure that is infinitely worse than the disease."

Thant said: "The Vietnam war has often been represented as a 'holy war' against communism. I regard this concept as entirely erroneous."

Nebraska Primary Shapes Up To RFK Against Rest of Field

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — It was Sen. Robert F. Kennedy against the Democratic field and Richard M. Nixon topping the GOP list as candidates wound up their campaigning for Tuesday's Nebraska presidential primary.

Kennedy played the traditional game of hedging against a possibly unsatisfactory outcome. He insisted that he couldn't get the 50 per cent of the Democratic vote that would notify prospective convention delegates in other states that his campaign for the nomination was surging in high gear.

Former Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien, a Kennedy strategist said he thinks that if the New York Senator gets 35 per cent of the vote in the Democratic column he will have racked up a substantial victory.

He noted that in Nebraska the late John F. Kennedy hit his lowest mark of 37.9 per cent in the 1960 presidential race with Nixon.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, Kennedy's chief rival on the ballot, expressed confidence he will do better at the polls Tuesday than he did when he ran third in last week's Indiana primary. Kennedy got 42 per cent of the vote in that test. McCarthy placed behind Gov. Roger D. Branigan, a favorite son candidate, with 27 per cent.

The Minnesota senator declined to deal in percentages, saying that "a horse doesn't have to predict who's going to win a race."

O'Brien expressed public concern that a campaign for a Democratic write-in for Nixon might cut into Kennedy's strength.

Crossovers are barred among the state's 329,014 registered Republicans and 281,752 registered Democrats. But write-ins are easily scribbled in on either party's ballot.

Nebraska Democrats for Nixon, headed by Karl E. Dickinson of Lincoln, has mailed an appeal to every Democrat to write in Nixon's name on their party's ballot. Dickinson's effort to rally disgruntled Democrats is based on the theme that McCarthy, Kennedy and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey offer "nothing but more of the same" of rioting in the cities and excessive spending.

Charles and Jack McCool, who owned the OGM rights to a small portion of the proposed swimming pool, said they were within the realm of the 1968 budget.

R. A. Marti, chairman of the planning committee, recommended that Armory officials be re-contacted and advised the borough was still interested in acquiring that property. There was talk some years ago, Marti reminded that the armory was considering a change of location. The facility, however, has recently undergone considerable remodeling and rejuvenation.

Tidioute Council Okays $250 for Ball Park

Tidioute Borough Council approved $250 for a ball park on the agenda of the Monday night meeting of the Tidioute Borough Council where an unusual number of motions passed including committees for the summer recreational program, two additional trustees for the Tidioute Ball Park and the grading and blacktopping of Campbell Hill rd. Also voiced were approval to the Warren County Commissioners that council would support the OEO program in Warren County, and voted an increase in the salary for George Morrison, manager of the Tidioute Utility Water Works, due to added duties.

Council president, William Robinson reported on a recent meeting with the Tidioute Ball Park trustees consisting of George B. King, Krug Cyphert and A. B. Clinger. At that time Robinson suggested that additional members from the council should serve on the committee, and nominated Sam Konkle and William Daehlhousen. These men were approved by the committee to serve only as long as they are council members.

Local and County Officials Invited to Special Meeting

In an attempt to provide the maximum benefit to all county residents through planning and zoning, and guide county development to its ultimate productivity, the Warren County Planning and Zoning Commission and Warren County commissioners have invited all township supervisors, borough managers, and councilmen to a general meeting to be held in the large court room in the court house on May 22 at 8:00 P.M.

It is hoped, through discussion and exploration of the varying suggestions from the officials present, to improve the general functioning of the planning and zoning office, as well as adjust for needed changes in the planning and zoning regulations.

Further information and an agenda will be released to the officials prior to the meeting.

Old Positions Are Restated As Talks Open

PARIS (AP) — In its turn, each side in the Vietnam war demanded Monday that the other side scale down the bitter conflict as a step toward peace.

But the special emissaries of Presidents Johnson and Ho Chi Minh—Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and Minister of State Xuan Thuy — were careful to muffle their charges and countercharges in relatively mild terms. It was as if they were signaling a readiness to talk on and on, despite their public postures, to end war both said they detest.

It was a predictable sendoff for the long awaited encounter, held amid the Gobel tapestries and glittering chandeliers of the storied former Majestic Hotel within sight of the Arch of Triumph.

He saw such a move as "a reasonable test of good faith" which, if fulfilled, could lead on to other elements of a settlement.

Six other measures proposed by Harriman:

1. American forces would be withdrawn from South Vietnam "as the other side withdraws its forces to the North, stops the infiltration and the level of violence subsides."

2. A concert of Asian nations — which presumably could include Red China — should devise a new system of supervising any agreement that might emerge. It would take over from the existing but powerless International Control Commission made up of India, Canada and Poland.

3. All South Vietnamese people, including clearly the Viet Cong, must be allowed to determine their own future "without outside interference" on the basis of "one-man, one-vote."

4. The neutrality of Laos must be respected and reinforced.

5. America is ready to join North Vietnam in an international program to promote the economic development of all Southeast Asia.

6. Once South Vietnam is pacified and troops are withdrawn, America will seek neither bases nor alliances—meaning the United States will not pull out one day in order to return another.

General Strike in Paris Only Partly Effective

PARIS (AP) — Hundreds of thousands of protesters against the De Gaulle regime surged through the heart of Paris Monday in the climax of a day of general strike and demonstrations across France. The protests seemed a success, but strike effects were so spotty it was often difficult to tell one was on.

Workers, students, people of all ages and classes marched for three miles amid chants for President Charles de Gaulle to resign and cries of "De Gaulle assassin! De Gaulle assassin!"

It was the largest people's parade through Paris in memory and the strongest such demonstration against de Gaulle's 10 year old Fifth Republic. He leaves Tuesday for Romania on a state visit.

After some concessions from the regime toward students who had rioted last week, the demonstrations took on a wide tone of criticism against the entire Gaullist structure.

De Gaulle talked with premier Georges Pompidou Monday night—for the second time during the day—about the strike and demonstration.

As the last of the demonstrators joined the line of march, it was estimated that there had been a solid cortege of 20 abreast for 3½ hours. Organizers of the demonstration started off estimating a million people, but later scaled this down to 700,000 to 800,000. Official sources who refused to be identified said their information indicated 200,000 to 300,000.

Allies Say V.C. Offensive In Saigon Is Crushed

SAIGON (AP) — With 5,000 North Vietnamese pressing in for the kill, U.S. cargo planes have airlifted nearly 1,700 allied troops and civilians from mountain-ringed Kham Duc Special Forces camp near Da Nang, the U.S. Command reported Monday. At the same time, allied commanders declared the Viet Cong offensive in Saigon crushed.

The North Vietnamese at Kham Duc shot down a four-engine U.S. C130 Hercules transport loaded with government troops as it lifted off the tiny airstrip Sunday.

The plane crashed and exploded, killing its six U.S. crewmen and an "unknown number" of South Vietnamese soldiers and civilian irregulars, the command said. A C130 can carry up to 100 passengers.

Driving hard to block the evacuation, the North Vietnamese killed 19 U.S. soldiers and Marines and wounded another 125 in the desperate rear-guard action. No figures were available on casualties among the civilian irregulars who formed the camp's main defense force, but 29 Vietnamese army soldiers were known to have been wounded.

The U.S. Command said 300 enemy soldiers were killed in the fighting that erupted Friday and ended when the final cargo plane lumbered off the airstrip near dusk Sunday. It added air strikes later killed more.

Oregon Governor Says Rocky's Beginning to Soar

HONOLULU (AP) — Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon said Monday that Nelson Rockefeller's race for the Republican presidential nomination is "beginning to soar" and the New York governor "may get it on the third ballot."

McCall made the assertion at a news conference at the Western Governors Conference. The scene of energetic behind-the-scenes efforts by Rockefeller backers to prevent Richard M. Nixon from sewing up the nomination.

"Rockefeller has an excellent chance," said McCall, who is supporting the New Yorker, as he sounded the theme of Rockefeller backers — Republicans shouldn't commit themselves too far before the GOP National Convention in Miami Beach this August.

"I just don't think it looks healthy for the party to have it locked up 13 weeks before the day of decision begins," said McCall.

Nixon, the former vice president, is generally regarded as the front runner.

Gov. Ronald Reagan of California and Leonard Hall, a key adviser to Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, met for 30 minutes behind closed doors Sunday. Both Hall and a Reagan spokesman said Monday they made no deals but agreed that Nixon doesn't have the Republican nomination sewed up.

Hall, former Republican national chairman, came to Reagan's hotel room. Also present was F. Clifton White, the former Barry Goldwater strategist who is advising Reagan's California favorite son delegation to the national convention.

Lyn Nofzinger, Reagan's communications director, described the meeting as social — and said that Hall did not suggest a Rockefeller-Reagan ticket. Hall agreed with Nofzinger's account and said both he and Reagan concluded that Nixon isn't assured of the nomination.

The meeting with Reagan was one of several Hall had with GOP governors here for the annual meeting of chief executives of the 13 western states and the territories of American Samoa and Guam.

The convention Monday dealt with state problems.

Mrs. Potter To Attend State LWV Meet

Mrs. James W. Potter of 313 Prospect st., left yesterday for Harrisburg to attend the state council of the League of Women Voters of Pennsylvania. Held every two years, the council will attract 130 delegates from the 56 local Leagues in Pennsylvania. Its theme for 1968 is "The League and The Legislature."

For the banquet program the speakers will be the majority leader of the House of Representatives and the minority leader of the State Senate. These talks by the Hon. Lee A. Donaldson and the Hon. Ernest P. Kline will preview upcoming legislation of interest to the League of Women Voters. Mrs. Potter hopes to have the opportunity of meeting her representatives, Senator Richard C. Frame and Representative William W. Allen, at a coffee hour. Pursuing the legislative theme the women will visit a session of the General Assembly. The highlight of Wednesday's program will be a luncheon speech by Joseph W. Barr Jr., former mayor of Oil City and now the head of Pennsylvania's Department of Community Affairs. Mr. Barr's talk will deal with local government and home rule, which are areas of keen concern to the League.

The main business of the delegates concerns a review of the past year's activities and the direction of efforts for the coming year. Naturally, revision of the state constitution will be a focal point, since League members worked hard for the passage of the five convention proposals at the April primary election. Their success brought the following outlook for work on the part of Pennsylvania's 7,033 LWV members:

A study of the merit selection of statewide judges; evaluation of community courts, and evaluation of alternate forms of local government.

of the building and then expertly knocked off the dial and entered the safe.

Police said the interior of the safe was damaged to the extent the unit was considered a total loss with about $200 damage.

School Aid Bill in Committee; Further Action May Be Slow

HARRISBURG (AP) — A House-approved bill that would provide about $27 million in state aid for nonpublic schools was given to the Senate Appropriations Committee Monday amid predictions that further action would be slow in coming.

Sen. George N. Wade, R-Cumberland, committee chairman, said he did not expect his panel to release the bill to the floor for some time.

"The bill will receive early attention," Wade said, "but don't expect prompt action, because there is no money in sight."

Wade said the committee would consider the bill "within the next couple of weeks."

The bill, which would set up a special authority to purchase educational services from private and parochial schools, was passed by the House last Wednesday.

As now drafted, the measure would finance the nonpublic school authority by allocating to it 15 per cent of the state's annual cigarette tax collections.

Several ranking Republican senators have voiced dissatisfaction with the measure, preferring instead to finance the program out of horse racing revenues.

Normally, the bill would have gone to the Senate Education Committee, headed by Sen.

Preston B. Davis, R-Northumberland.

Davis, however, asked that some other committee be selected, since his panel has been occupied for weeks with a teachers' salary bill.

A joint House-Senate conference committee, which includes Davis as a member, met again Monday on the teachers' pay bill. The panel reported at the end of the day that no progress had been made.

Chiropractic Inquiry Sought

HARRISBURG (AP) — The medical profession proposed a legislative inquiry Monday to see whether chiropractic treatments qualify for Pennsylvania's medical aid program.

The Pennsylvania Medical Society made public a letter its president, Dr. John H. Harris Sr., had written to state senators proposing an "impartial probe" of the practice of chiropractic.

Dr. Harris said he asked the investigation "in the cause of better health for our citizens," and added:

"If chiropractic has any scientific validity, its practitioners should welcome an impartial probe."

Chiropractic is a system of manipulating the spine and joints by hand, based on the belief such treatment can cure disease.

There was no immediate reaction from the Pennsylvania Chiropractic Society, or other spokesmen for the profession.

To avoid any semblance of bias, Dr. Harris told the senators that it was not the intent of the probe merely to present "masses of anti-chiropractic evidence."

The medical society's reason for seeking an investigation, Harris said, is a bill now before the Senate that would include the cost of chiropractic treatments in services covered by "Pennsycare," a state medical assistance program.

The inclusion of such treatments, Harris said, "would foist on our population the cost of a form of care unacceptable to the mainstream of science."

Harris suggested that the State Department of Public Welfare, which administers the Pennsycare program, or another "impartial group" might be designated to make the investigation.

"There is no medical basis for chiropractic," Harris said. "It is impossible to define chiropractic accurately, as it has no fixed universal meaning and even varies in definition from state to state."

Death of Man Being Probed

The Pittsburgh office of the Army Corps of Engineers is still investigating the death of a Greensburg man who died as the result of a bulldozer mishap Friday afternoon at Tionesta Reservoir.

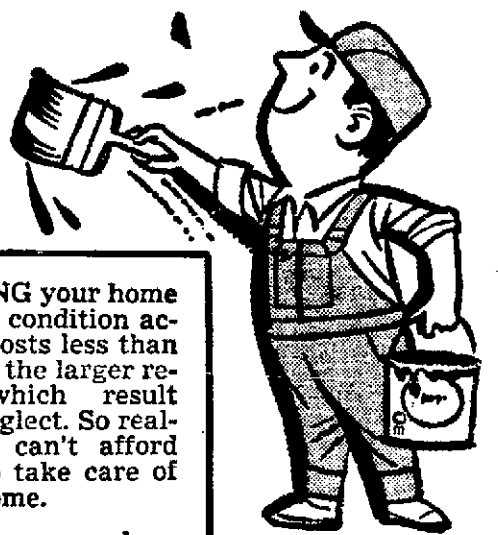

The victim has been identified as Sam Teacher, who was employed by the Miller Construction Company. The company is taking out rock along the entrance route to the boat launch.

According to reports, Teacher was operating a bulldozer at the scene when a number of rocks and boulders started to fall. He jumped from the vehicle and died as a result of the fall, reports state.

The bulldozer went into the water after Teacher jumped and had not been removed as of Sunday night.

Cable Attending Special Ed Institute

James E. Cable, supervisor of special education for Warren County, is attending an institute for supervisors of special education May 15-17 at the University of Pittsburgh.

The seminar is conducted under sponsorship of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction, Department of Special Education.

During the institute, those attending will divide into three teams. Each team visits a different county, to review and evaluate the current special education programs. The three counties to be evaluated are Fayette, Lawrence and Armstrong.

Cable explains this is the final institute in a series conducted for supervisors of special education, all of them held at Pittsburgh, during February, March, April and May.

"The field evaluation projects," he says, "enable both the local special education staffs and visiting teams of supervisors to find areas of excellence and also suggest opportunities for improvement and expansion of local programs. It also provides opportunity for exchange of ideas."

Strength Only From Unity

Early reports have indicated that the meeting being held at the Three Flags Inn this evening to kick off the membership drive of the Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau and present Clifford L. Jones, secretary of the Department of Commerce, as a featured speaker will be well attended. Advance ticket sales have met or perhaps exceeded the expectations of the committee.

And yet, in considering the importance of this meeting to the future of Warren County, one can wonder how even the spaciousness of the Three Flags can accommodate the interested persons. It would seem that if the campaign is to have the backing it deserves nothing less than the high school auditorium would have served as a meeting place.

For regardless of any difference of opinion that may exist as to how we are to eventually reach the goal of promoting the tremendous recreational potential of the county—that goal is vitally important to our economic future and must eventually be realized. Until we have organized a central agency capable of guiding us to this goal, personal views on direction should be laid aside. A time will come when such views can be rationalized, compromised, and finalized into an acceptable work plan.

In the meantime we need the strength that can only come from a unity of purpose.

ART BUCHWALD

Upping Bobby's Allowance

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Rose Kennedy, mother of Sen. Robert Kennedy, added fuel to her son's presidential campaign when she told a reporter of Women's Wear Daily that she saw nothing wrong with spending a great deal of Kennedy money to win the Democratic nomination.

She was quoted as saying, "It's our money, and we're free to spend it any way we please. . . . It's part of this campaign business. If you have the money, you spend it to win. And the more you can afford, the more you'll spend." Mrs. Kennedy said her family was no different from the Rockefellers. "The Rockefellers are like us. We both have lots of money to spend on our campaigns."

I can just imagine a telephone conversation with Mrs. Kennedy and her son, Robert. "Hello, Bobby, this is Mother. I heard you ran out of your allowance after the primary in Indiana, and you're now borrowing from Teddy."

"Yes, Mother. I tried to be careful, but the money just disappeared."

"Bobby, you have to be more careful. I gave you more than enough money for Indiana and I was hoping you'd have some left over for Nebraska."

"I'm sorry, Mother, but you can't imagine what television time costs these days. And then the newspapers in Indianapolis were against me, so I had to spend money for posters and outdoor advertising, and before I knew it, it was gone."

"Now, I don't want to lecture, Bobby, but you and I agreed that you would not indulge yourself in one state. After all, you still have Oregon and South Dakota and California to go, and if you start borrowing money now from your sisters and brothers you won't have any left for the summer."

"But, mother," Bobby protested, "I think my allowance is too low. Nelson Rockefeller gets twice as much as I do and he isn't even running in the primaries."

"We're not the Rockefellers, son, and besides, he's older than you are. I could give you more money, but I'm trying to teach you thrift and the value of money. After all, if you're going to be President of the United States, you should have an appreciation for the worth of the dollar."

"Mother, you talk as if I'm throwing my allowance away. Every cent I spend can be justified. I didn't buy any candy or soda pop with it. It all went to the campaign."

"I believe you, Bobby. But there are these terrible stories the neighbors are spreading that Rose Kennedy's son is throwing money around like water. Now it's none of your business what we do with our money, but at the same time I hate to hear them talking about you this way. Teddy just called and told me you're using your Oregon money in Nebraska. I thought you told me Nebraska would be cheap."

"Teddy's a squealer. It's not true. I'll have plenty of money left for Oregon. Teddy's just angry because you gave me more allowance to run in the primary in the District of Columbia than you gave him to run for senator of Massachusetts."

"I wish you boys would stop quarreling all the time over allowances. But Teddy did make a good point. If you spend all your money in the primaries, you won't have anything left over to run in the election. Don't you think you could put aside a little each week for a rainy day in November?"

"I'll try, Mother, but if you could just give me $100,000 more a week, I wouldn't have to keep asking you for money all the time. All the kids running have more dough than I do."

"We'll talk about it the next time I see you. Until then, try to be a little more careful. You don't have to buy prime time on television every time you get the urge."

"All right, Mother. But in the meantime, could you let me have my California primary allowance in advance? Ethel's having another baby."

MASON DENISON

The Student Uprisings

HARRISBURG — Sharp concern and a mixture of mounting anger perhaps sums up the feeling of a growing number of Pennsylvania lawmakers over last week's student uprisings on two Pennsylvania campuses.

What has pressed the point close to home insofar as the local lawmakers are concerned is that in one instance the ruckus occurred at a state-owned and operated state college

Denison (Cheyney State College) while in the second instance a state-related university (Temple University) was involved.

One mid-state lawmaker perhaps summed up the feeling of many of his legislative colleagues when he said:

"Certainly we do not question the right of students to express their feelings and wishes — even to the extent of a demonstration, if you wish to call it that, on campus — but when such demonstration interferes in any way with the normal operation of the collegiate facility or when there is a violation of rules or regulations, then there is an entirely different picture."

In the case of both Cheyney State College and Temple University, a "take-over" of collegiate buildings via the "sit-in" route was involved (in obvious violation of college regulations).

"I cannot understand it," snapped one Senator. "When I was in college any such infraction of university rules and regulations would have meant almost automatic probation, suspension or expulsion — but today in our apparent world of constant fear we seem to try to find justification and excuses for such actions!"

What is of prime concern to lawmakers insofar as last week's two incidents are concerned is that both occurred at institutions where the state itself has a direct hand.

In the case of Cheyney State College the facility is a flat out-and-out state-operated college. With Temple University, in its comparatively new "state-related" status, it is heavily subsidized by the state.

The question arises of course as to why lawmakers should be expected to assume any responsibility at all, even though the facilities are tied in with the state in one way or another, which is a good question when in each case the schools are headed by a president with adequate authority and a board of trustees.

"The fact remains that in neither case was there any quick, decisive action, perhaps fostered by a sense of uncertainty on the part of the school administration, and even now there seems to be considerable hesitancy," was the way one lawmaker expressed it in calling for legislative action.

Virtually no lawmaker seems to feel that the students should not have the right of free expression — within what one Representative termed "reasonable and constructive bounds" — but what most are opposed to centers around a group of students interrupting normal school procedure and virtually taking over the facilities.

Mafia Loanshark Racket

WASHINGTON — The Senate Small Business Committee will conduct a grim inquiry, beginning today (May 14) into how the Mafia through the loanshark racket has taken over thousands of small businesses.

It is a story of money, muscle and murder that reaches into the most respectable shopping districts. Senate investigators have unearthed evidence, for example, that businessmen who can't qualify for bank loans have actually been steered to the loan racketeers by bankers.

In a confidential memo to Chairman George Smathers, D-Fla., counsel Ernest P. Evans has given a preview of the testimony he hopes to develop.

"Loan-sharking," he declares, "is the second largest source of revenue for organized crime. It is a multi-million dollar activity, primarily financed from gambling proceeds."

He has called witnesses from New York City and Chicago, who will describe how the loanshark racket operates in those centers. They will testify that the Shylocks charge exorbitant interest and use strong-arm methods to collect, often making economic slaves of their debtors.

One borrower who couldn't meet his payments, the late William Jackson of Chicago, was strung up on a meat hook and tortured with knives, ice picks and an acetylene torch until he died. Perhaps the most poignant witness will be a Chicago woman, who will be identified only as Mrs. Mary Smith, whose husband was hounded over a $300 loan until he shot himself.

Reports Evans: "(Her) husband committed suicide over his plight. Her son was kidnapped by mobsters, and she was urged to engage in prostitution to repay her husband's loan."

Another dramatic witness will be a small business victim who is now being held in protective custody in New York City.

"This man," advises Evans, "has been testifying before a grand jury which, in turn, is returning indictments which should sharply curtail the mob's loan shark activities in New York. Our hearing will be the first time his story will have been made public."

"There is supposedly a $500,000 price tag on his head. We have arranged extensive security for his appearance. His identity will, of course, have to be concealed."

The Senate Committee has also subpoenaed Fiore Buccieri, whom the Evans memo describes as "allegedly a top lieutenant in the Chicago mob."

"Buccieri," according to the memo, "supposedly runs all of the loan shark activities for the Chicago crime syndicate. He will appear, according to his attorney who has already been in touch with the Committee on a couple of occasions."

"We have also subpoenaed a New York man, Mason Sackin, who is also an alleged loan shark operator."

Summing up the investigators' findings, Evans explains to Sen. Smathers in the confidential memo: "There are two basic situations which lead businessmen to involvement with mob-controlled loan sharks. One is where a businessman or employee of a company turns to a loan shark to bail himself out of financial difficulties. These loans are usually made to cover gambling debts, serious illness or family emergencies."

"The second and infinitely more dangerous way is where business executives, in need of immediate cash for one reason or another, turn to a loan shark without knowing with whom they are dealing. They are usually put in touch with a loan-shark operation by a 'friend' or sometimes, as testimony will show, by unscrupulous officers at legitimate banks. . . .

"One of the cases in the former category that will be presented by Mr. Michael Metzger from the New York District Attorney's office is that of a Wall Street messenger who was forced into helping sell stolen securities in order to satisfy his debt to a loan shark. Also, he was forced to help mobsters steal negotiable securities from his employer."

"Interest on a Shylock loan," continues the Evans memo, "can run anywhere from 10 to 50 per cent per week figured on the actuarial method."

Advance statements have already been submitted by some of the witnesses. Deputy Inspector Louis C. Cottell of the New York Police Department, for example, will testify how mobsters milk the small businesses they take over.

"His competitors," Cottell will say, "are placed at a tremendous disadvantage. The mobster can and does undercut his competition by the use of non-union labor; shoddy, inferior material; lowering the price of merchandise or service below what a legitimate business can meet, by subsidizing the business with monies from illegal sources."

"Once the competition is destroyed, the price is then raised to whatever the traffic will bear."

Cottell will also describe "what is known in the trade as the panic hour — the hour from 1:30 P.M. to 2:30 P.M. This is the time that checks previously issued are presented for collection. A businessman who has insufficient funds on deposit at this time 'panics.' He needs immediate short-term credit to cover his obligations and, if unable to get it, runs to the Shylock."

Cottell, in his advance testimony, identifies as New York loan sharks "Salvatore Bonanno, doing business as Republic Finance Company; Julio Gazio, doing business as First National Discount and Servicing Corporation; Joe Cataldo, doing business as Coral Credit; Carmine Lombardozzi, operating as Forsgate Trading Corporation."

"The titles," he will conclude, "are deceptive, the offices are ornate, but the ultimate services they dispense are those of the Shylock — mayhem and fear."

Humphrey's 'Resurrection'

OMAHA, Nebraska — "It's just like a resurrection — but much less spectacular."

The foregoing, incredibly enough, is Hubert H. Humphrey's own summary of his abrupt transition from the perfect obscurity inhabited by an American Vice President to the frenzied activity of a presidential candidate.

Or rather, not incredibly enough, for the remark, if you think about it, is at once wryly funny, agreeably self-deprecating and entirely accurate; and as such, it is pretty characteristic of Humphrey.

The remark also speaks volumes about the present predicament of the newly liberated Vice President. He believes that if the Democratic Convention were being held today, he would pretty certainly be nominated; and he is pretty certainly right.

In the Kennedy camp, one now hears pious disclaimers of any attempt to round up the delegates from the big states in the crucial period after President Johnson's withdrawal. Anyone in his senses knows, however, that such an attempt must have been made, and must have failed. Otherwise, it would be all over but the shouting.

The extremely able Kenneth O'Donnell would not be then devoting about half his time to the key problem of Illinois — which, being translated, means that sphinx of mayors, Richard Daley of Chicago. And one would be then hearing very different stories, too, from Ohio, Pennsylvania and one or two other important places.

With the Humphrey strength in the South and in the border states, and with much tentative strength in several big Northern states, the Vice President ought to have just the kind of muscle on the first ballot that his adherents claim — if the first ballot could only be taken now.

But as the convention is in late August, he has the problem summed up in the snapper of his joke in that phrase "much less spectacular." He has been resurrected, beyond doubt, but since his announcement of candidacy, he has been sadly inconspicuous.

Here are Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and Sen. Eugene McCarthy, with many fewer pledged or half-pledged delegates, holding the headlines and filling the television shows, day after day, with their marathon through the primaries. And here is the Vice President of the United States, a famous veteran of American politics, and the present front-runner for his party's nomination, who cannot even get on the front page when he is surprisingly unkind, as he was the other day about the rioting students at Columbia.

Humphrey is speaking regularly — he came out here, for instance, to share the spotlight of the local Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner with Sen. Kennedy. But there have been no loud, nationwide echoes as yet; and so he has been heard to say, good humoredly as always but with a certain resolve, "I guess I'm going to have to attack someone."

The someone in question is just about certain to be Sen. Kennedy; and the problem of attacking him is made a great deal more difficult by the new note of moderation and the new appeals to the center that have marked the senator's recent campaigning. But Humphrey can no doubt find enough quotations from the old Kennedy to get headlines and cause a certain discomfort to the new Kennedy.

If the Vice President does this, however, he will merely be playing the political game according to the old rules, as an old pro, without any of the anger which he is almost incapable of feeling. The real themes of his campaign are quite different.

As Humphrey reads the country, the great majority of Americans in this troubled time want to hear a message of hope and union, a message of confidence in the national future and respect for American institutions. To be sure, the respect may have to be insisted upon, and the confidence can only be justified by energetic, realistic action to solve national problems.

Yet the foregoing is the message Humphrey intends to purvey. It may be a bit bland. It is certainly very different from the passionate (and too often justified) discontent of Sen. Kennedy's message, with his endless, deeply felt reiteration that this or that American failure or difficulty or short-fall is "unacceptable."

The real question is which of these two men reads the country right. For if the big state leaders and delegates think Humphrey's message will get more votes than Kennedy's, the primaries may very easily be discounted; and if the opposite happens, Humphrey's present lead will melt away.

Harriman On Toast

Mr. Averell Harriman has received considerable if not considered publicity in recent days as our emissary to Paris where we are to discuss with the North Vietnamese the future of South Vietnam. On a number of points there is general agreement, namely, that Mr. Harriman is a stout-hearted gentleman bred in the Yankee tradition, who knows how to bargain tenaciously. The legendary Harriman sleeps little, remembers everything, and comes home to Washington with the bacon. Unfortunately, as the sports-say, there is the record.

It is rather dismal. Mr. Harriman is rightly credited as the first among the front-ranking diplomats of the late-war period who caught on to what Joseph Stalin was all about. Granted, the understanding of Stalin wasn't immediate. Harriman had been appointed ambassador to Russia in October 1943, and his communications to President Roosevelt shortly after arriving in Moscow were glowing with optimism. But by April of 1945, the month that Truman replaced FDR, the illusions were gone. "We must realize," he called the State Department, "that the Soviet program is the establishment of totalitarianism, ending liberty and democracy as we know and respect it."

Considering that penetration, one might have hoped for a better performance when Mr. Harriman met in Moscow with Molotov and British Ambassador Kerr on the matter of contriving a provisional government for Poland, as it was agreed at Yalta a few months earlier should be done. The ironic drag of that particular conference was very heavy, inasmuch as it was of course recognized that England had declared the Second World War in protest against the Nazification of Poland by Hitler. The idea was that Harriman should ensure free elections in Poland.

It is of course substantively unfortunate that the provisional government evolved into a puppet-Communist government, whose dynastic grandson Gomulka continues in iron control of the country. It is symbolically disappointing that Yankee Trader Harriman appeared, by the end of June, 1945, well pleased with himself and with the concessions he thought to have wrested from Moscow. Indeed, he threw a cocktail party at his Moscow residence to celebrate the achievement. Two months after all those toasts and all those happy grins, Poland had moved solidly into the Communist orbit.

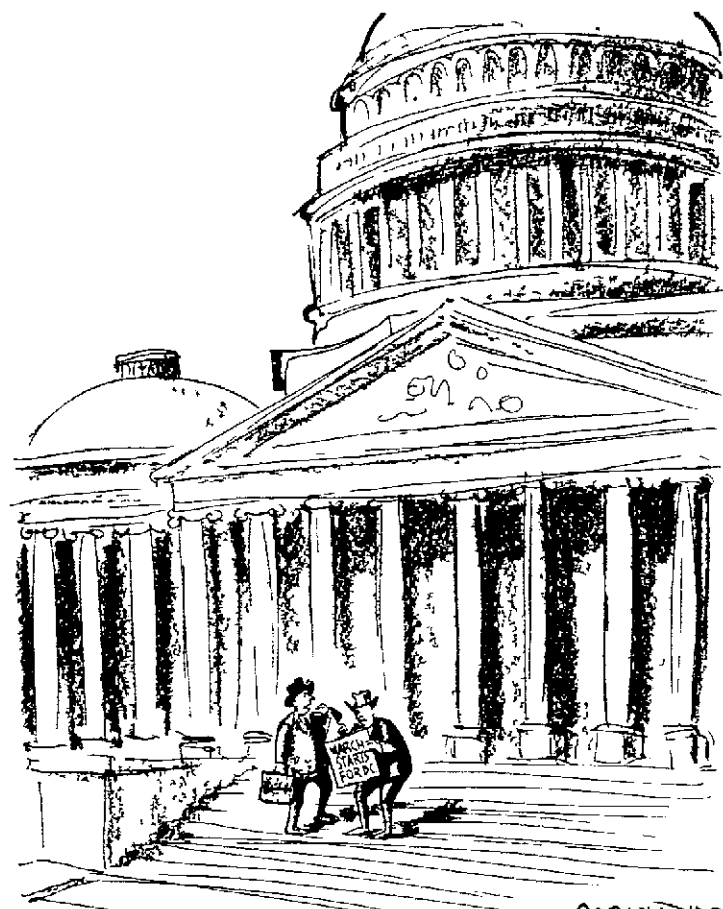

Time passes. President John F. Kennedy nominates Mr. Harriman as our man to negotiate a nuclear test-ban treaty in Moscow, and away he goes. The government of the United States began by insisting on unlimited on-site inspection, for the very obvious reason that you don't, in a nuclear age, deal in the honor system.

Russia balked. So that, in February of 1963, we reduced our demands to seven sites. Russia balked again — but hinted that it might go along on two, maybe even three inspection sites. Harriman went to work. On August 6, the Nuclear Test-Ban Treaty was signed. One of the provisions: No (no-o) inspections.

And then there was Laos. The problem was pretty hairy. But sure enough, we dispatched Mr. Harriman there, and presumably the idea was to contrive things so as at least to neutralize Laos, rather than to create within it great four-lane highways for the use of North Vietnam's war against South Vietnam. To recapture the thinking of the day, here is Mr. Jacques Nevard of the New York Times, writing on May 27, 1962: ". . . (There are those who) insist that if Laos is given to the Communists, the defense of South Vietnam and Thailand will be made much more difficult and costly. . . . They ask, why give the Communists a corridor (the Ho Chi Minh Trail) through which they can supply their troops without making them fight for that, too?"

So Harriman concluded an arrangement for neutralization, which lasted approximately as long as it took Mr. Harriman to return to Washington to report his findings gladly. Hostilities instantly broke out, with the Communists, taking advantage of the postures instituted by the treaty, getting the upper hand. Poor Mr. Harriman went once again to Moscow and was greeted coolly.

But, never say die, Boola Boola Harriman reported at the airport that he "had no reason to doubt Premier Khrushchev would fulfill his agreement with President Kennedy to establish a neutral and independent Laos."

"WHO'D HAVE EVER GUESSED POVERTY WOULD DECLARE WAR ON US?"

What The Surtax Means To You

Assume the 10 per cent surtax on individual incomes retroactive to April 1 finally becomes law. This would mean an effective surtax rate in calendar 1968 of 7 1/2 per cent. How would this affect you, a married taxpayer filing a joint return?

If your income after all deductions and exemptions in calendar 1968 comes to around $8,000, it would mean an income tax hike of about $103.50 this year, which would average out over a full 52 weeks to just under $2 a week.

If your income after all deductions and exemptions this calendar year comes to around $16,000, it would mean an income tax hike of about $244.50, which would average out over a full 52 weeks to about $4.70 a week.

Only if your taxable income is in the $44,000 range, would your tax increase for calendar 1968 mount into the four figures. The total would be $1,054.50 or a bit more than $20 a week.

This, mind you, is a surtax. You DO NOT FIGURE it as a regular 7 1/2 per cent tax on your 1968 taxable income (income after all deductions and exemptions). You DO FIGURE it as a 7 1/2 per cent tax on the tax you report that you owe on your 1968 income.

The essence of this is that the tax surcharge will have a more modest impact on your family financial position than many now believe. Admittedly, in the lower income brackets, even a tax hike of $1 a week is very important and in fact, the House-Senate conference committee acknowledges this by exempting from the surtax millions of married taxpayers reporting less than $3,000.

But in the higher income brackets, the impact will be moderate. Even the married taxpayer with $100,000 of income this year will pay only $3,388.50 more, equal to about $65 a week.

Here's a table, prepared for me by the Research Institute of America, against which you can match yourself to see how you would make out.

Over and beyond the specific dollars-and-cents meaning to you, this surtax will have basic implications.

First, it will help moderate the demand for goods and services and by so doing, mark a first step back from inflationary price increases and toward reasonable price stability.

Second, the tax increase, plus spending cuts, will be a clear signal to our foreign creditors of U. S. fiscal responsibility and thus will help increase confidence in our dollar's integrity.

Third, the moves will help curb today's interest rate upsurge. There may be no major or quick easing of interest rates but the threat of an intolerable money squeeze will be off.

These fiscal steps will cool the fever in our economy but not put us through the wringer. They represent a belated financial acknowledgement that we have long been fighting a military war.

Weevil Control Workshop Set

LLOYD ADAMS

A workshop on Alfalfa weevil control will be held Monday, May 20, at Warren State Hospital tractor shed, at 8 p.m., it is announced by County Agent Bernie Wingert. The session will be conducted by Lloyd E. Adams, extension entomologist, Pennsylvania State University agricultural extension staff in charge of insect control in 18 northwest Pennsylvania counties. He will discuss chemical control methods. Many Warren County alfalfa weevils, says Wingert, were severely damaged last year from alfalfa weevil infestation. Some farmers sprayed their crops, but others without control measures diminished tremendously. All are welcome to attend this special clinic.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife and I are both in our 40s and our husband were killed in the same accident. My husband was driving and I was seated beside him. We were away from the totally demolished car without a scratch. It was one of those freak accidents that could happen.

A lovely little girl (two years old) was adopted as a result of her accident. Her husband and I adopted her. The following year we had our first child. A son. It is sad that to everyone who comes into this house that our husband is extremely partial to the little girl. Our son gets an affection, just yelled at. His father was a single parent with the girl. Everything our boy does is treated as a mistake.

Doesn't it seem strange that a father would favor an adopted child over his own? I read some stuff, Ann, because I see signs of serious trouble ahead if something isn't done. — BOSTON

DEAR BOSTON: It may well be that your husband has some guilt feelings in connection with the death of this child's parents and is trying to compensate by being overly attentive to her. Your natural resentment against your husband for mistreating his own son is producing additional trouble, and he is bound to feel it.

I hope you will both discuss this problem with a specialist. Professional help could be very useful.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a career girl who swore off serious entanglements when a gentleman with whom I went for four years literally stood me up at the church.

I met a very attractive man at a respectable swimming club several weeks ago and we hit it off together immediately. He was divorced and friendly and attentive. The problem — he can consume a staggering quantity of liquor without showing it, and then all of a sudden he passes out cold.

The first time this occurred I was certain he had had a heart attack. What worries me to death is that he insists on driving — drunk or sober — and it is impossible to tell when he has made the transition. I don't want to insult him and insist on driving, yet I'm afraid one day he will drive us both into the Hudson River. What do you suggest? — CHICKEN

DEAR CHICK: Since the guy obviously drinks like a fish, tell him you'll swim with him but you won't drive with him. And make it stick. Better he should be insulted than you should be dead.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We are expecting our first baby in three months. As my sisters have done before me, my mother who lives in another state expects me to ask her to spend a week with me when I bring the baby home from the hospital.

I have never been close to my mother. I've always felt she favored my sisters. I am sure she would spend the entire time criticizing me and making me nervous. The thought of it causes me to shake even as I write this letter.

My husband's mother and I get along beautifully. Do I dare ask her to spend the week with me — at the risk of hurting my own mother's feelings? What do you say? — WIT'S END

DEAR WIT: Hire help for that one week even if it means doing without something else. This is the best solution.

Unsure of yourself on dates? What's right? What's wrong? Should you? Shouldn't you? Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Wigs, Wiglets And Convention Highlight Newcomers Meeting

Blonde, Redhead, or Brunette — for an evening? Raymond Nichols of Casa Bella Beauty Salon said, "only your hairdresser would really know," at the Welcome Wagon Newcomers meeting, recently in Fellowship Hall at the First Presbyterian Church, Ray, with his efficient assistants surprised the club members as wigs and wiglets were arranged upon the heads of three Newcomer members: Mrs. Robert (Sylvia) Follett, Mrs. Thomas (Carol) Boblanz, and Mrs. (Sue) James Hoskinson.

Wigs and wiglets vary in shades as well as prices according to size and whether the wig is machine or handmade. The hair itself is obtained primarily from Indonesia, however, European hair is used although the most expensive with Oriental being the least expensive. Mr. Nichols also informed his audience on the care and treatment that colures necessitate.

The regular meeting was then called to order. The May 1st Welcome Wagon Newcomers Convention held in Meadville was reported to have been very enjoyable as well as informative. There were a total of 202 reservations made and kept. Speaking at the Convention was Betty Jo Toccolli, executive supervisor, for Welcome Wagon from New York City.

Organ Concert Next Sunday By Carl Stout At Trinity

Carl E. Stout, organist and choirmaster of Trinity Episcopal Church, Warren, will present an organ concert on Sunday afternoon, May 19. The concert will begin at 4 p.m. with the "First Sonata" in three movements by the German composer Paul Hindemith. This Sonata follows the linear construction of music which is so idiomatic for the organ. "The Celestial Banquet" is next, by the French composer Olivier Messiaen. An impressionistic composition, the composer made use of interesting harmonic progressions and tonal colors characteristic of the organ.

To close the first group, Mr. Stout has chosen the popular "Litanies" by Jehan Alain. Mr. Alain, a Frenchman, was killed in World War II at the age of 27. This is perhaps his most famous composition using a recurring musical subject and growing in intensity "until the soul, repeating its supplication, ends in a burst of frenzied pleading."

After intermission, David Mahan and Timothy Miller, trumpet players, will join Mr. Stout and perform the "Concerto for Two Trumpets and Keyboard in C Major" by the Italian composer, Antonio Vivaldi. The great German composer, Johann Sebastian Bach, will be represented by the "Passacaglia in C Minor" a set of twenty variations over a ground bass. Three chorale preludes are based on the chorale melodies, "I Call To Thee, Lord Jesus Christ," "Jesus, Priceless Treasure" and "My Soul Doth Exalt The Lord."

To conclude the concert Mr. Stout will perform the concluding portion of The Passacaglia, the "Fugue in C Minor". This fugue is one of the few double fugues that Bach composed using the first eight notes of the subject of the Passacaglia.

gila and superimposing another musical subject at the same time over it, thus creating a double fugue.

The organ at Trinity Episcopal Church is a three manual and pedal organ built by the Holtkamp Organ Company of Cleveland and installed in 1959. It is exposed on the side wall and present day tonal and mechanical ideas have been embodied in its construction.

The performer, Carl E. Stout, is dean-elect of the Chautauqua Chapter of the American Guild of Organists. He also is the conductor of the Warren Civic Orchestra and Warren Philharmonic Chorus. He received his Bachelor of Music degree from Syracuse University, studying organ under Dr. Arthur Poister. His Master of Arts degree was granted by East Carolina University, where his study in organ was under Dr. Arthur Poister, of Syracuse University, from which he transferred his organ credits. He was formerly organist and choirmaster at The Good Shepherd Episcopal Church, Rocky Mount, North Carolina, and was head of the Organ Department at East Carolina University School of Music for four years before coming to Trinity Episcopal Church.

There will be a free will offering taken after the concert to defray the expenses of the concert.

St. Michael's Notes

Special services and activities marked Mother's Day observance, which is also celebrated as the Sunday of the Samaritan Woman, in St. Michael's Parish. The Office of the Dead was interpolated into the conclusion of the Divine Liturgies for the deceased mothers of the parish and carnation bouquets were presented to the mothers by the Rev. This day also marked First Communion Day in the parish. Bishop Stephen J. Kocisko, eparch of the Pittsburgh Byzantine Catholic Eparchy, will dedicate the newly-installed mosaic iconostasis next Sunday during a solemn Pontifical Divine Liturgy at 4 p. m. North's three club response to the opening two no trump bid is a conventional request for the opening bidder to show a major suit if he has one. The fact that North actually has clubs in the present instance is purely coincidental.

When South rebid three hearts, North's hand became worth 12 points in support—counting one for each doubleton—and he proceeded directly to six hearts inasmuch as the partnership was assured of having at least 33 points between them.

West opened the queen of diamonds and, with the appearance of the dummy, declarer relaxed, as if his chores were purely routine. It was his intention to draw trump and then play clubs—ruffing one in his hand, if necessary, to establish the suit. The trick count was four hearts four clubs, one club ruff, two diamonds and one spade.

After winning the opening lead South cashed the ace of hearts and then led over to the king. When West showed out of trumps, the situation became exceedingly complicated. While South can still establish clubs by ruffing once in his hand, the heart suit becomes blocked in the process and he is unable to draw trump.

South decided to shift his attentions elsewhere. He led back to the king of diamonds and ruffed a diamond in dummy. When the jack and ten appeared from the West hand, it established declarer's nine as a winner. The jack of hearts was cashed and the closed hand was reentered with the king of clubs, so that declarer could draw the last trump.

West had in the meantime discarded the three and seven of spades. When the nine of diamonds was led, however, his margin of safety was gone. He could not afford to part with a club or else the dummy's suit would become established, so West gave up the jack of spades—thereby blanking his king.

South tried to run the dummy's clubs. When the suit did not split he led back to the ace of spades, refusing to finesse and felling West's king in the process. The queen of spades took the fulfilling trick.

South could have made matters much easier for himself by going after the club suit immediately. It was all right to cash one high trump from his hand early, but he must then switch to the king, ace, and a small club. When East shows out, declarer can safely ruff low to establish the suit. He now draws trump ending up in dummy and the club suit can be run to cinch 12 tricks on the deal.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR TUESDAY, MAY 14, 1968

ARIES (March 21 to April 20) — First-rate endeavor will keep your day at the high standard its generous influences indicate. You may find, to your surprise, that "tricky" tasks prove easier than ordinary ones.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21) — A better-than-average day — one which encourages your best efforts. If faced with some minor disappointment, try to be philosophical and take it in stride. Don't fret.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) — This day will call for your steadiest efforts. Make all decisions in your natural, unbiased and farsighted manner. In conferences, be discreet, but stand on your principles.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) — Excellent lunar influences stimulate all your interests now. This is the time to take advantage of every available opportunity and put yourself high on the list of winners. You can eclipse past performances.

LEO (July 24 to August 23) — Be neither too gullible nor too skeptical. Several suggestions may be offered — some good, some otherwise. Be objective, impersonal in your judgment. Avoid rumor-mongering.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23) — You will need a good sense of proportion and understanding to cope with this day's intricacies and complexities. Your innate perceptiveness should help, however. Back this up with SELF-CONFIDENCE.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23) — Vigor must be accompanied by sure-footedness; enthusiasm by ability and know-how. Don't attempt any undertaking without sufficient knowledge of all factors involved.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22) — Good Mars influences. There's much you can attain now. Your dynamic personality can shine, and your adaptability will help in unusual situations.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21) — Mixed planetary influences call for steadfastness now. Don't make hasty decisions and DO avoid the Sagittarian tendency toward secretiveness. Others involved in your activities need SOME clue to what you're about.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20) — Day offers new incentive for forging ahead. It will be important, however, to emphasize stability, carefully systematize all procedures.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) — Put forth best efforts and be on guard against carelessness. Some unexpected situations will require unusual concentration if they are to be solved.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20) — Many ways to turn? There are really too many worthy of consideration. Meet people, discuss ideas, even where not "necessary" — and watch the ball roll!

LIVING WITH SONIC BOOMS

The main objection to supersonic aircraft is the super-boom that startles everyone on the ground. Windows, walls, dishes, and anything else capable of vibration, rattle.

Those who regard these thunderous booms as the price for progress or national security do not complain. Others do, because the noise shatters their nerves. In addition, these booms can cause property damage. Authorities hope that we will learn to live with the racket and, in time, disregard it in much the same way as we now ignore the din of traffic, horns, riveters, pile drivers, and other disturbing sounds of daily living.

There is no way to silence the boom, but the volume can be reduced by modifying the shape of the air liner. When a carrier travels at supersonic speeds, molecules of air are packed into a wall in front of it. Hitting that wall continuously causes the thunderclap-like noise that is heard on the ground. It is not a single shock, but a collection of them. The drag (air displacement) at the end of the tail also produces a shock.

Atmospheric conditions affect the noise and deviating from a straight course greatly magnifies the boom along a 50-mile wide trail. The boom also decreases rapidly with increase in altitude.

There is no evidence that supersonic booms have endangered health. We can predict that many abnormalities will be blamed on the racket. This is true of two-thirds of the property damage claims which the federal aviation agency could not accept as a direct result of sonic vibrations.

TOMORROW: Eyelid Lesions.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

PROTECTING ARTHRITIC JOINTS

B. Z. writes: In one of your articles concerning arthritis, you made the following statement: "Anyone with active arthritis should protect the diseased joints." I'd like to know how a person does this. I am referring to finger joints.

REPLY
Protect them from being injured, such as when working with tools or doing the housework. Arthritic knees can be injured by running, jumping, climbing ladders, or being overweight.

MUMPS WHEN PREGNANT

Mrs. E. writes: If a pregnant woman develops mumps, will her unborn baby get it too?

REPLY
There is no way to tell for certain unless the baby is born while the mother has mumps. This possibility is remote but has been reported in children of mothers who developed mumps as they neared delivery.

Veil of Secrecy Drawn At Louisville Hearing

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A veil of secrecy was drawn over a section of Churchill Downs Monday as eight or more witnesses testified before a stewards' hearing in the Kentucky Derby disqualification of Dancer's Image.

Dancer's Image, a 1-4-length winner in the May 4 Derby, already has been placed last for use of an illegal drug, giving the $122,600 prize to Calumet Farm's Forward Pass.

The stewards, meeting behind locked and guarded doors of the track's general office, sought to fix the blame for the appearance of phenylbutazone in the colt's system.

Hanging in the balance was not only the reputation of trainer Lou Cavalaris, whom racing rules charge with absolute responsibility for the condition of the colt, but also a shot at the Preakness next Saturday for the son of Native Dancer.

Owner Peter Fuller has said he will not allow Dancer's Image to start in the second gem of the triple crown unless Cavalaris saddles him.

There were some indications that the hearing might continue nonstop until a decision was reached.

Included among witnesses called were Fuller, a Boston auto dealer and ex-boxer; Cavalaris, a resident of Canada who resembles actor Peter Lorre, and two members of their stable staff.

Also going before the stewards were Dr. Alex Harthill, in whose barn Dancer's Image was stabled before the Derby; Doug Davis, who had his racing string in the next barn, and two representatives of the drug testing firm that found phenylbutazone in the colt's urine.

Briles Brilliant Pitching Cards Nip Pirates, 1-0

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Roger Maris singled home Curt Flood with a first-inning run and Nelson Briles' brilliant four-hit pitching made it stand up as St. Louis nipped Pittsburgh 1-0 Monday night.

Briles, 3-2, yielded a single by Bill Mazeroski and a double by Willie Stargell in the first inning, then set down the Pirates on two hits the rest of the way.

The victory increased the Cards' National League lead to four games.

Flood drilled a double off the left field scoreboard with one out in the first and Maris lined an RBI single into right just beyond the grasp of diving second baseman Bill Mazeroski.

Loser Jim Bunning, 3-3, allowed only one more runner to get as far as second base before he was lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

Braves Win Game, 4-2 On Walk, Sacrifice Fly

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pinch hitter Tito Francona drew a bases loaded walk in the ninth inning and Hank Aaron followed with a sacrifice fly, giving the Atlanta Braves a 4-2 victory over Philadelphia Monday night.

Pitcher Phil Niekro, whose bunt single was the Braves' only hit in the ninth, stopped the Phillies on three hits in squaring his record at 3-3.

Phil's starter Chris Short walked Sonny Jackson with one out in the ninth and Niekro popped a bunt over the pitcher's head for a single. With a 2-0 count on Felipe Alou, Farrell replaced Short and completed the walk, then forced home the tie-breaking run by walking Francona.

Hank Aaron's sacrifice fly to right scored Niekro with an insurance run.

The Braves grabbed a 2-0 lead in the second inning when Deron Johnson tripled and Tommy Aaron hammered his first homer of the season.

Niekro walked Johnny Callison and Bill White with one out in the fourth and the runners advanced on a wild pitch, Rich Allen struck out, but Johnny Briggs lined a two-run single to center, tying the game 2-2.

A total of 75 boys from 32 schools will vie for the right to enter the State Finals on May 25 at Penn State.

Wood Pro -- "Imponderable" Becomes Preakness Entry

BALTIMORE (AP) — The imponderable was added to the imponderable Monday when Wood-Pro, the winner of one race in two years, was added to the field for Saturday's $150,000-added Preakness.

While Pimlico officials awaited word on the availability of Dancer's Image, the disqualified Kentucky Derby winner, they were notified that Wood-Pro would be entered.

The 3-year-old colt, owned by John Nero, earned $5,225 last year while winning one race, and $3,612 this year in 10 trips to the post without a victory.

Wood-Pro finished third behind Dancer's Image in the New Year's Handicap at Laurel, a mile race won by Preakness starter Sir Beau. That was before Dancer's Image rocketed to prominence by winning the Governor's Gold Cup and the Wood Memorial.

Dancer's Image was disqualified after finishing first in the Derby when the drug phenylbutazone was found in his system during a post race urinalysis. The drug is a medication, not a stimulant, but it violates Kentucky racing rules.

Americans Upset In Italian Tennis

ROME (AP) — Alexander Metreveli of the Soviet Union and Juan Gisbert of Spain dramatically upset seeded Americans Cliff Richey and Marty Riessen Monday and advanced to the quarter-finals of the Italian International Tennis Championships.

The double loss wiped out the last U.S. singles players in the tournament. Earlier in the day, Kathy Harter of Seal Beach, Calif., and Julie Heldman of New York were eliminated from the women's competition.

Metreveli, Russia's top tennis star who is seeded 15th here, defeated second-seeded Richey of San Angelo, Tex., in the most exciting match of the tournament 2-6, 6-0, 7-5, 2-6, 10-8.

A short time before, Gisbert, unseeded, stopped fifth-seeded Riessen of Evanston, Ill., 6-3, 2-6, 6-1, 6-3.

Sock It to 'Em Carl Raises BA

NEW YORK (AP) — It figured that Carl Yastrzemski would sock it to 'em eventually and the Boston Red Sox outfielder has been doing just that while gaining considerable ground in defense of his American League batting title.

Way down the list with a .233 average a week ago, last season's triple crown winner caught fire the past week. He collected 12 hits in 25 tries, a .480 pace, and boosted his overall mark to .296. This placed him ninth in the batting competition, 31 points behind the leader, Cleveland's Max Alvis.

Coast CUBS--DODGERS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ernie Banks clubbed a two-run homer and Ron Santo drove in two runs with a single and sacrifice fly, leading the Chicago Cubs to a 5-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Monday night.

The probable Preakness field totals 12, counting Dancer's Image. If as many as 10 start, the gross purse would top last year's record $194,000.

Forward Pass, the Derby runner-up, who has since been declared the official winner, arrived at Pimlico Monday.

Knights and Eagles To Settle 5-5 Reading

It will be an all-out battle this afternoon at Youngsville as the Eisenhower Knights travel to the Eagle oval to meet the Red and White for the eleventh time in the rivalry between the two county schools. In the ten year series which the two squads boast the slate has each team with five wins and five losses.

Today's meet will be the determining factor as to who moves ahead in the county sports "hall of fame" by breaking the 5-5 tie.

The meet has also often been called the "Mythical Class B" county championship with the winner ending up tops in the county in Class B competition. So far this season both squads have met the other county Class B team, the Sheffield Wolverines, and both teams downed the Orange and Black. Thus the final factor in determining the Class B team which is tops in the county rests in today's meet.

The meet will naturally boast top competition with the athletes giving their all out effort in the last dual meet for both squads prior to the district 10 meet this Saturday, which also will be in Youngsville.

With so much at stake in this final county meet the outcome is sure to be surprising. The starters' gun is to go off promptly at 4:00 and spectators are most welcome.

GOLFING WITH Arnold Palmer

Golf's first Million Dollar P.G.A. Winner

PLAY YOUR CHIP SHOTS AS IF THEY WERE LONG PUTTS

Many golfers who have a sensitive putting touch on the greens suffer from lack of finesse on chip shots from off the green. If this is your situation, merely imagine you are stroking a long putt whenever you have a chip shot from off the edge.

You might even wish to try using your putting grip on these chip shots.

Imagine how firmly you would need to stroke the ball if you were putting it. Then merely give your chip shot the same force, using any clubhead from a 2- to a 5-iron.

Keep your head and body still on these chip shots, just as you would if you were putting. Sweep the ball off the grass so that it runs forward, low to the ground, with very little backspin.

If it makes you feel more comfortable and gives you more club control, don't hesitate to choke down on the clubshaft on these chip shots. Again, this will make the shot seem similar to a long putt.

Jury Still Out on Trades; Early Returns Indicate Standoffs in Most Deals

NEW YORK (AP) — The jury still is out on the big baseball deals of last winter but scattered early returns indicate a standoff.

Take the major swap between the Los Angeles Dodgers and Minnesota Twins for example. The Twins got a catcher, John Roseboro, and two veterans for the bullpen, Ron Ferranowski and Bob Miller. They gave the Dodgers a regular shortstop, Zoilo Versalles, and a dissatisfied pitcher, Mudcat Grant.

Roseboro has been doing much of the Twins' catching but is hitting only .151. Versalles is the Dodger shortstop and has driven in 14 runs despite a .198 average.

On the pitching side, Ferranowski has been the lefty relief stopper the Twins have needed, compiling a 3-0 record and a fantastic earned run average of 0.96. Grant, coming out of the bullpen day after day, has a 2-1 record and a 2.13 ERA.

Consider the Philadelphia-Pittsburgh swap that was to clinch the pennant for the Pirates.

Jim Bunning, the man who was supposed to coast home behind those big Pirate bats, is 3-2 and the Pittsburgh club is hitting only .229, less than the Phils.

Woody Fryman has won as many as Bunning but has lost more and stands 3-4.

Don Money, the young shortstop who was supposed to be the key to the deal for the Phils, has been sent out to the San Diego farm. The two young pitchers who came to the Phils were sent out early.

How about the big New York Mets-Chicago White Sox deal involving outfielders Tommie Agee and Tommy Davis? Agee is in a .112 slump after finally breaking an 0-for-34 hitless streak. Davis is batting only .203. Al Wels is a fill-in infielder for the Mets and Jack Fisher is 0-1 as a White Sox pitcher.

The White Sox may have the edge in their swap with Baltimore that brought shortstop Luis Aparicio back to Chicago with outfielder Russ Snyder for pitchers Bruce Howard and Roger Nelson and infielder Don Buford. Aparicio is beginning to move up at bat at .258 and is playing every day. Snyder hasn't done much. Howard and Nelson are winless, and Buford is just an extra hand in the infield.

However, that Oriole-White Sox deal looked like a real disaster for Baltimore a few weeks ago when shortstop Mark Belanger was called up to service. Now that it appears Belanger won't have to go right away, the heat is off.

Boston certainly came up with pitching help in Dick Ellsworth, currently 4-2, from the Phillies. The Phils are using catcher Mike Ryan, .188, against left-handed pitching. Cincinnati came up with a surprise starting pitcher in George Culver, 1-3 and 2.48 ERA, from Cleveland for outfielder Tommy Harper, .309. The Reds also acquired a useful pinch hitter in Fred Whitfield from the Indians.

Bill Kelso, 2-0, has been useful in the Reds' bullpen while Sammy Ellis, who went to the California Angels in the deal, is 2-4 in the American League. Cincinnati farmed out Jorge Rubio, another pitcher, who came with Kelso.

The Reds, most active in the trade market, haven't found much use for outfielder Mack Jones and have farmed out pitcher Jay Ritchie. But Atlanta hasn't profited much from first baseman Deron Johnson, who is hitting .102.

Cincinnati came up with a .327 hitter from St. Louis in outfielder Alex Johnson but lost outfielder Dick Simpson, batting .321 for the world champion Cards, and John Edwards, a backup catcher for Tim McCarver.

Houston looks like a winner with Denny Lemaster, 3-3 and a 2.98 ERA, plus Denis Menke, .304, from Atlanta for Sonny Jackson, .219. Menke has become the Astros' regular shortstop, ousting Hector Torres. Jackson has driven in 11 runs for the Braves despite his sick average.

Washington has been getting help from relief pitcher Dennis Higgins, 2-1, and infielder Ron Hansen, .219, who came from Chicago for Bob Priddy, 0-1, and second baseman Tim Cullen, .228.

When Joe Torre was injured in early season, Atlanta was happy to have available Bob Tillman, ex-New York Yankee. Tillman is hitting only .156 but has three homers and nine RBI. The deal cost the Braves third baseman Bob Cox, .193 with the Yankees.

Jose Cardenal has become a regular in center field since Cleveland got him from the California Angels for Chuck Hinton, a part time performer in the outfield and at first.

Miami or New Orleans Site of Pro Super Bowl

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Professional football club owners announced new regulations for returning Olympic athletes and strongly indicated Monday that Miami or New Orleans will be the site for the 1969 Super Bowl game.

American Football League and National Football League club owners met jointly during the morning before breaking up into separate league meetings.

Olympic Equestrian Team Adds Four Vets to Squad

GLADSTONE, N.J. (AP) — Four veteran Olympians—Bill

Steinkraus, Kathy Kusner and Frank and Mary Chapot—were named to the U.S. Olympic Equestrian Team Monday by Coach Bert DeNemethy.

The squad was announced after three days of trials at Hamilton Farm in Gladstone.

The four riders named Monday will form the jumping team. Trials for the Olympic three-day and the Grand Prix de Dressage events will be held later in the summer.

Steinkraus, from Norwich, Conn., holds the world indoor record with his jump of 7 feet, 3 inches last year at Madison Square Garden in New York. Miss Kusner of Alexandria, Va., won the women's world championship last year in Italy. The Chapots are from Wallpack, N.J.

All four competed in the 1964 Olympics at Tokyo but none won medals.

Named as reserves were Carl Hofmann of North Branch, N.J., Neal Shapiro of Glen Head, N.Y., and Christine Jones of Bloomfield Hills, Mich.

The owners plan meetings Tuesday and Wednesday to consider proposed rule changes, player relations and final decision on the Super Bowl site.

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of both football leagues, said in a news conference that the choice of sites for the Super Bowl has pretty well narrowed down to Miami and New Orleans.

"I would think it would be one of these two," Rozelle said, though adding that other sites might possibly be considered. He said a final decision will be reached by Wednesday.

One matter clarified Monday was the question of athletes who participate in the Olympic Games, Rozelle said.

A club owner will have a choice of activating at any time an Olympic athlete returning to a club after Oct. 15, or the club could choose not to activate such an athlete, but there would be no time limit, Rozelle said.

"However, if he is to participate in post-season games, he must play in at least two games," the commissioner continued.

On another matter, Rozelle said there would be little chance of inter-league player trading before the merger scheduled for 1970.

Sports of The Times Arthur Daley

(c) 1968 N.Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK, May 13 — Maybe there is no deep significance to it. Or is there? An observer cannot help but wonder about certain chronological facts. In the first 56 seasons of this century only four perfect games were pitched. But when Jim (Catfish) Hunter of the Oakland Athletics fashioned a perfect game against the Twins last week, his feat was the fourth such epic in the last dozen years and the third within the narrower span of the last five years.

Does this indicate that the pitchers are getting better? Or does it denote that the hitters are getting worse? The answer is a double-yes. Baseball's rarest exploit is not quite becoming commonplace but the frequency ratio keeps mounting because there are more no-hitters and low-hitters nowadays than ever before.

When one comes right down to it, the chief difference between perfect games, no-hitters and low-hitters is the price—less quality of luck. A fielder makes a sensational save. A well-tagged ball curves foul or a wicked line drive rockets into someone's glove. If the cliché is true that baseball is a game of inches, these hitless games would seem to prove it. There is neither pattern nor logic to them. Grover Cleveland Alexander pitched more shutouts than any man who ever lived. He never had a no-hitter. Neither did Lefty Grove, Dizzy Dean and other great ones.

Warren Spahn was the scourge of the national league for almost two decades without ever reaching the jackpot. Then he made it when he was 40 years old.

"It's ridiculous for a man of my age to pitch a no-hitter," he remarked with quizzical good humor. Damned if he didn't throw another no-hitter when he was a year older.

Daddy Vance had one and barely missed a second. In fact he was only one out away when Sammy Bohne of the Reds stepped to the plate with a fungo bat, a harmless weapon that couldn't do damage to Sammy's Buddy, the Dazzler. But the bat broke when it struck the ball. It floated over the shortstop's head for the only hit of the game.

"Save me from my friends," said Daz. "With a real bat, he would have popped up."

Then there is the case of Bobo Hollioman, a screwball pitcher Bill Vecek bought conditionally for the old St. Louis Browns. Bobo was bombed all during spring training and in relief efforts when the season opened. But the persuasive Hollioman kept insisting to Vecek and to Manager Marty Marion that he really was a starter. They decided to give him his chance, mainly to shut him up. You should be able to guess what happened.

"It was the quaintest no-hitter in the history of the game," wrote the whimsical Vecek in his book, "Vecek as in Wreck."

The Athletics belted everything he threw — straight into Brownie gloves. Whenever Bobo showed signs of tiring a brisk little shower would give him a chance to rest. A home-run ball curved foul at the last second. An unplayable bunt rolled foul on the last spin. This was his first start in the big leagues and his only complete game. By the next season he was back in the minors. But the no-hitter kept him longer in the big leagues despite Vecek's temptation to do otherwise.

"I don't think it's really wise," wrote Wild William, "to send a man back to the minors right after he's become immortal. I mean it looks as if you're punishing him for throwing a no-hitter. I bought him a TV set as a reward for his splendid work."

At the same approximate time that Catfish Hunter was immortalizing himself, Phil Pepe's new book, "No-Hitter," was published. In his research the author produced some fascinating figures. The chances of a no-hitter are 1,300 to 1. The chances of a perfect game are 28,000 to 1. If present trends are continued, though, the ratio will go down considerably. One game that often is overlooked in the perfection category is the gem that was burnished by Harvey Haddix of the Pirates. In May, 1959, he pitched against the Braves in Milwaukee in a spectacular duel with Lew Burdette. The Braves kept going down in order in a scoreless game. At the end of nine innings 27 men had gone up and gone down, the equivalent of a perfect game. And it stayed perfect through 12 innings. But in the 13th an error, an intentional walk and the only hit of the game cost Haddix his victory and a special niche that would have been his alone.

Jim Maloney of the Reds pitched a 10-inning no-hitter against the Mets only to lose in the 11th on a homer by Johnny Lewis. Two months later he had a 9-inning no-hitter against the Cubs and began to wonder what the fates had in store for him this time. But in the 10th Leo Cardenas hit one over the wall for him and Maloney had a happier 10-inning no-hitter.

"You need luck to pitch a no-hitter," once said Sandy Koufax, who had four, including a perfect game. Being good doesn't hurt, either.

Bids will be received for the farm without timber and for the timber, all of which are more fully described as follows:

1. A farm of approximately 149 acres located in Pine Grove Township, Warren County, Pennsylvania, identified on Warren County Assessment records as Wn 2-481, together with a house, barns and outbuildings located thereon and all standing timber now located upon said premises.

3. The farm consisting of approximately 149 acres together with house, barns and outbuildings, but not including the sawlog timber measuring 13" or more in diameter, breast high, and subject to contract for the sale and removal of said timber within two years from the date of the bid.

Sealed proposals may be submitted for the purchase of one or any combination of the foregoing. All proposals should be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check in 10 per cent of the amount of the bid, to insure the purchase by the successful bidder and should be transmitted to William E. Rice, Clerk of the Orphans' Court at the Warren County Courthouse, Warren, Pennsylvania, on or before 2:00 o'clock P.M. on May 21, 1968, at which time said bids will be publicly opened and read. Envelopes should be marked on the outside "Bid - Rupert Swanson Estate." All bids for the farm should specify whether the bid is made for the farm with the timber or without the timber.

The balance of the purchase price on the successful bid or bids will be payable within thirty days after bid opening and upon delivery of a deed or contract of sale. Taxes for 1968 shall be prorated and the estate and buyer shall each pay one-half of any transfer tax.

It is the intent of the estate to accept the bid or combination of bids which shall yield the highest price to the estate, but the right to refuse any and all bids is reserved.

LEGAL NOTICE
IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS OF WARREN COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA. MILDRED R. MERRY, FRANK HARDEK and DONNA L. HARDEK, his wife, versus C. F. KUHNS and ALVA JEWELL, their respective heirs and assigns. No. 14 May Term, 1968.

ACTION TO QUIET TITLE
TO: The Defendants above named, their heirs and assigns, generally:

You are hereby notified that the Plaintiffs above named have filed a Complaint against you at the above number and term in the Court of Common Pleas of Warren County, Pennsylvania, averring that they are the owners of certain pieces or parcels of land situate in Springcreek Township, Warren County, Pennsylvania, bounded and described as follows:

A. COMMENCING at a point in the center of the public road known in prior deeds as the Oil Creek Road; being the Southeast corner of the larger parcel of which the within described lot is a portion; thence Northerly along the center line of said road eighty-six (86) rods to a point; thence West along the residue of grantors' land twenty-eight (28) rods to a point; thence Southwesterly along an old fence line and residue of grantors' land ninety-four (94) rods to a point in the line of land formerly of Phillis; thence East along said Phillis line thirty-six (36) rods to the point, the place of beginning. Containing Sixty-six (66) Acres, more or less.

B. BEGINNING at the southwest corner of Tract No. 353, and at a stake in Fred Phillis north line; thence east and along Fred Phillis north line of 157.2 rods to the center of the Oil Creek Road; thence northerly along the center of said Oil Creek Road to a stake in the southeast corner of lands of Orla Nichols; thence westerly and along the south line of said Nichols land 224 rods to a stake in the west line of the tract; thence along the tract line south to a stake in the north line of lands of said Fred Phillis the place of beginning, containing ninety-nine (99) Acres of land, be the same more or less.

The County Treasurer sold the premises first above described for unpaid taxes in 1942, said premises having been assessed in the name of C. F. Kuhns, with taxes and levies for the years 1939 and 1940. Merlin E. Wright, the purchaser at said sale and his successors in title since 1942 have adversely possessed said premises and claimed ownership thereof.

The parcel of land second above described was conveyed to Alva Jewell in 1859 and the said Alva Jewell died intestate sometime prior to 1868 seized of said premises, and it is presumed that all of his heirs have conveyed title to the same by various deeds recorded among the records of Warren County. However, there is no record of the names of the heirs of Alva Jewell among his Estate papers filed in Warren County and there is nothing of record to indicate that all of his heirs have in fact conveyed their interest.

The Plaintiffs have instituted appropriate legal action for the purpose of requesting the Court to order that the said Defendants, their respective heirs and assigns, be forever barred from asserting any right, title or interest inconsistent with the claim of the Plaintiffs of, in or to the said parcels of land.

You are required to answer the said Complaint on file in the Prothonotary's Office of said Court within twenty (20) days from the publication of this notice or judgment by default will be entered against you.

Liquid Oxygen Forms Mist Blanketing Area

CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa. (AP) — Thousands of gallons of liquid oxygen spewed from a leak in a storage tank Monday, forming a vaporous mist that blanketed the immediate neighborhood.

The leak at the nearby National Cylinder Division of Chemtron Corp. forced the temporary shutdown of a new basic oxygen furnace at the nearby Alan Wood Steel Co., which receives its oxygen supply from National Cylinder.

Police closed an adjacent highway to traffic due to the mist. The resulting detour caused a mammoth traffic jam in Conshohocken. Firemen were at the scene as a precaution. Cause of the leak was not immediately known.

Mrs. Lloyd Price attended the Kane District W.S.C.S. meeting held at the First United Methodist Church in Dubois on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sexton of Union City were Friday evening callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Martin.

The annual community mother-daughter dinner sponsored by the W.S.C.S. of the Lottsville United Methodist Church was held at the church with seventy-nine persons attending. Mrs. Lloyd Price gave the table prayer.

Mrs. Helen Johnson was mistress of ceremonies. The welcome was given by Mrs. Walter Chase. The daughters response by Sonna Chapman.

Mrs. Stanley Emlet led in group singing.

Mrs. Wayne Price of Warren was guest speaker and gave a talk and read several poems. Mrs. Lloyd Price gave several of Riley's Readings for children. Betty and Bonnie Miller gave a vocal duet and Carol Scott played "Deep Purple" for a piano solo.

Corsages were presented to Mrs. Ethel Wilson, the eldest mother, Mrs. John Hagberg, the youngest mother, Mrs. Harry Redick for the mother with most daughters attending and Mrs. R. L. Echnoz, daughter coming the longest distance.

Miss Cindy Price was accompanist for the closing hymn, "Living for Jesus." Mrs. Helen Johnson and Mrs. Harold Chapman were program committee. Mrs. Elvan Ayling, Mrs. Arthur Alexander and Mrs. George Ropp, dining room committee. The thirteen dinner was served by the men of the church.

Price-Support Wheat Rate Set at $1.27 Per Bushel

Warren county price-support rate for 1968-crop wheat has been set at $1.27 a bushel, Charles Camp, chairman Warren County Agricultural Stabilization Committee has just been notified.

Warren County wheat growers, he explains, may get price-support loans or be eligible for CCC purchases by not exceeding their 1968 allotments, and carrying out other provisions of the 1968 wheat program. Participation also qualifies growers for marketing certificates on that part of their wheat allocated for domestic consumption.

Certificates for 1968 crop are based on 40 percent of the farms projected production of wheat on the farm allotment. Certificates have a cash value equal to the difference between parity and the national average loan rate of $1.25 per bushel, thus returning to the participating wheat grower 100 percent of parity on his domestic wheat allocation. It is recalled domestic certificates for the 1967 wheat crop amounted to $1.36 per bushel.

Warren County ASCS office manager Gerald Bensink has received notice from the national advisory committee on grains that at a recent meeting in Washington, D.C., called to study the domestic and international wheat situation, and make recommendations for 1969 wheat program, the committee suggested in its general outline for 1969 a 10-percent required diversion below this year's 59.3 million-acre allotment. With additional voluntary diversion, this is expected to bring about the recommended reduction of about 50 to 100 million bushels in the anticipated 1969-70 carryover. The committee said this recommended goal should bring about a better supply-demand situation and firm up prices. Wheat stocks have been climbing. In 1967 carryout at end of marketing year totaled 425 million bushels. In 1968, as of July 1, it will be about 545 million. By the end of the 1968-69 marketing year it is expected to increase again.

The committee's review of the world wheat situation forecast higher than anticipated 1968 production, because of expected generally favorable crop weather conditions.

There is also anticipated there will be lessened opportunity for commercial and concessional export wheat sales. Prospects of increased availability of wheat from the major exporting nations, coupled with greater production in some traditionally importing nations, indicates probably lessening of world market demand. Because more than half of the U.S. wheat production normally goes into export, the world situation has tremendous impact on this grain.

The national advisory committee meets again next fall to give detailed study of the feed grain and soybean situation before making recommendations for the 1969 crop year.

County Can Be Proud Of Three Top Spellers

COUNTY CHAMPS AT FINALS

Participating Saturday in National Spelling Bee Pennsylvania finals in Pittsburgh Saturday were, from left: Pamela Kinney, St. Joseph School; Laura Anne Levinson, Pleasant Town; and Diane Kerner, Beaty Junior high school. Diane Kerner stood up longest for Warren champions, with 64 top Pennsylvania spellers competing.

Warren County can be very proud of its three top spellers for their performance at the National Spelling Bee Pennsylvania finals Saturday in Pittsburgh, declares Lee Warthman of Erie, director of the National Spelling Bee TV spelling contest sponsored by Warren Times-Mirror and Observer and Sheffield Observer, and Erie Times and News.

The three young women who represented Warren County are: Pamela Kinney of St. Joseph School, Diane Kerner, Beaty Junior high school; and Laura Anne Levinson, Pleasant Township elementary school. "Diane Kerner stood up longest of the Warren County champions," Warthman adds. Lori Kearns, 15-year-old 8th grade student from St. Catherine School in Du Bois, was the final winner at the Pittsburgh Pennsylvania finals at Schenley

High School Saturday. She now competes in the National Spelling Bee in Washington. Second place went to David York Gips, St. Elizabeth School in Pittsburgh.

64 top Pennsylvania spellers took part in the spell-down. A portion of the spelling bee was carried over KDKA in Pittsburgh.

Warthman reports the three Warren County champions will all be eligible to compete next year, and they are beginning work on expanding their already extensive spelling vocabulary.

Among the prizes won by the three Warren County champion spellers are copies of Webster's High School Dictionaries and Collegiate Dictionaries for each girl's teacher.

All won Paper-Mate pencils in their initial spell-downs in the Warren County series, and at Erie special matched Paper-

Mate pen and pencil sets appropriately inscribed as mementos of the occasion.

Each one will be presented with a $25 savings bond by Mike Mead, publisher of Warren Times-Mirror and Observer and Sheffield Observer.

They will also receive a Certificate of Merit in Spelling. Further prizes for each include a year's service for Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Sound Film service, with a choice from the extensive Britannica Library of one each month for ten months of the 1968-1969 school year.

Their spelling skills also won each an Encyclopedia Britannica World Atlas.

In addition each is winner of the sumptuous 1967 Encyclopedia Britannica "Book of the Year" for 1967.

Warren Kiwanians

The language of machines will be translated into a timely talk when J. R. Rohleder, Bell Telephone Public Relations Department, presents "Data On the Move" during a meeting of Warren Kiwanis Club at 12:15 p.m. Wednesday at the YWCA. He uses closed-circuit TV, electrocardiograph and other sophisticated equipment to demonstrate data communications and its application in today's computer world.

Cars Collide

An East Hickory woman was slightly injured Friday afternoon on Route 27 one mile east of Titusville. State police of the Franklin substation said a truck operated by Mary Kagle of East Hickory, traveling west, stopped on the highway to avoid hitting another car and was struck in the rear by a 1965 westbound sedan driven by Iva Scheider of RD 1, Grand Valley.

Service recreation development, they are including this side-trip here on their itinerary.

They will be conducted through the dam itself by the U.S. Corps of Army Engineers. The group will also visit various recreation areas of the Allegheny Forest in the Allegheny Reservoir area.

The tour ends with a luncheon at Rimrock recreation area. This is the first visit of the Conservation Council to this part of New York State for at least ten years.

Their guide on their visit will be Ralph Willard, Forest Ranger, Bradford District of Allegheny National Forest.

USFS Officials from Milwaukee Making ANF Inspection Here

Two officials from the U.S. Forest Service regional office in Milwaukee are visiting Allegheny National Forest for several days. They are Roger Theanum, branch chief, division of lands for land adjustments, land classification and special uses; and Ralph McDonald, geologist with the division of lands, soils and watershed management.

The two men are making a general functional inspection. While here they are reviewing a number of problem areas in the Allegheny National Forests, and will recommend courses of action to meet various situations.

Both officials are new to the Allegheny National Forest area. Their field trips will acquaint them with many forest management problems unique to the Allegheny National Forest.

These include oil and gas operations, problems peculiar to the heavy soils in burned-over areas in Elk County which show poor return of natural reforestation, etc. Soil testing and studies for action on drainage problems will be involved.

The Buzzard Swamp area in Forest County is on the itinerary, as a water-fowl refuge development is being considered for that region.

Many problems in the Allegheny National Forest are not found on any of the other 16 national forests in the eastern region, which extend from Wisconsin to Missouri, Kentucky and West Virginia, into New England, as far as Maine.

The present tour of Allegheny National Forest will give both specialists a more comprehensive view of all National Forests in the region.
